

Jomsky, Mark

From: Victoria Mulleavy <info@sg.actionnetwork.org>
Sent: Monday, November 18, 2019 8:58 AM
To: Jomsky, Mark
Subject: 980 South Los Robles Demolition

CAUTION: This email was delivered from the Internet. Do not click links or open attachments unless you know the content is safe.

City Council,

Thank you for considering the issue of the planned demolition of 980 S. Los Robles Ave. I understand that the relevant loophole in our preservation ordinance is an ongoing concern for many residents, potentially impacting many historically significant properties around our City. However, I want to highlight this specific address because, according to the last Historic Preservation Commission hearing, it is urgent due to the pending expiration of the 180-day delay that was voted on in June. That leaves just 4-5 weeks for you to TAKE ACTION before the new owners have the right to demolish this well-preserved 1916 home (deemed eligible for Landmark status) to rubble, per the current zoning code. Like so many fellow neighbors, I hope this does not happen.

Here is a brief description of the home:

980 S. Los Robles Avenue is a historically significant Colonial Revival bungalow by architect Raymond M. Hobbs, built in 1916. Hobbs worked for Cyril Bennett's office during the pre-WWI years when the City of Pasadena was undergoing its main early development. Several houses similar to this design were built in 1914-15 by Bennett's office, most likely with Hobbs' drafting and design input. These include 1036 N. Chester Ave., 1029 N. Hill Ave., and 950 N. Los Robles Ave. (now altered). His design of the 'eyebrow' dormers and Tuscan columns were his signature look. Only a few of his houses remain.

The porte-cochère is another character-defining feature of this 4-bedroom, 2-bathroom home. The interior has its original hardwood floors throughout, solid mahogany doors, original curved windows and built-ins throughout. It was owned by the same family for the past 50 years.

I support City staff's identification of the need to strengthen our historic preservation ordinance. I appreciate that they are bringing the urgency of the situation to the attention of City Council on November 18th, and like many fellow residents, I applaud their intention to ensure there is no demolition of historically significant homes without full CEQA review, including an EIR. I hope this and other houses can be saved.

Thank you.

Victoria Mulleavy
missvic@charter.net
715 S Oakland Ave
Pasadena, California 91106

Jomsky, Mark

From: WILLIAM MULLEAVY <info@sg.actionnetwork.org>
Sent: Monday, November 18, 2019 8:51 AM
To: Jomsky, Mark
Subject: 980 South Los Robles Demolition

CAUTION: This email was delivered from the Internet. Do not click links or open attachments unless you know the content is safe.

City Council,

Thank you for considering the issue of the planned demolition of 980 S. Los Robles Ave. I understand that the relevant loophole in our preservation ordinance is an ongoing concern for many residents, potentially impacting many historically significant properties around our City. However, I want to highlight this specific address because, according to the last Historic Preservation Commission hearing, it is urgent due to the pending expiration of the 180-day delay that was voted on in June. That leaves just 4-5 weeks for you to TAKE ACTION before the new owners have the right to demolish this well-preserved 1916 home (deemed eligible for Landmark status) to rubble, per the current zoning code. Like so many fellow neighbors, I hope this does not happen.

Here is a brief description of the home:

980 S. Los Robles Avenue is a historically significant Colonial Revival bungalow by architect Raymond M. Hobbs, built in 1916. Hobbs worked for Cyril Bennett's office during the pre-WWI years when the City of Pasadena was undergoing its main early development. Several houses similar to this design were built in 1914-15 by Bennett's office, most likely with Hobbs' drafting and design input. These include 1036 N. Chester Ave., 1029 N. Hill Ave., and 950 N. Los Robles Ave. (now altered). His design of the 'eyebrow' dormers and Tuscan columns were his signature look. Only a few of his houses remain.

The porte-cochère is another character-defining feature of this 4-bedroom, 2-bathroom home. The interior has its original hardwood floors throughout, solid mahogany doors, original curved windows and built-ins throughout. It was owned by the same family for the past 50 years.

I support City staff's identification of the need to strengthen our historic preservation ordinance. I appreciate that they are bringing the urgency of the situation to the attention of City Council on November 18th, and like many fellow residents, I applaud their intention to ensure there is no demolition of historically significant homes without full CEQA review, including an EIR. I hope this and other houses can be saved.

Thank you.

WILLIAM MULLEAVY

perrytr6@charter.net

715 S Oakland Ave

Pasadena, California 91106

Jomsky, Mark

From: Sacks Denise <denisesacks391@me.com>
Sent: Monday, November 18, 2019 5:08 AM
To: Jomsky, Mark
Subject: Preservation

CAUTION: This email was delivered from the Internet. Do not click links or open attachments unless you know the content is safe.

Please support a moratorium on the destruction of historic homes in Pasadena. Once they are gone it is too late!!!!

Sent from my iPhone

Jomsky, Mark

From: MyoungHee Christiansen <info@sg.actionnetwork.org>
Sent: Monday, November 18, 2019 4:58 AM
To: Jomsky, Mark
Subject: 980 South Los Robles Demolition

CAUTION: This email was delivered from the Internet. Do not click links or open attachments unless you know the content is safe.

City Council,

Thank you for considering the issue of the planned demolition of 980 S. Los Robles Ave. I understand that the relevant loophole in our preservation ordinance is an ongoing concern for many residents, potentially impacting many historically significant properties around our City. However, I want to highlight this specific address because, according to the last Historic Preservation Commission hearing, it is urgent due to the pending expiration of the 180-day delay that was voted on in June. That leaves just 4-5 weeks for you to TAKE ACTION before the new owners have the right to demolish this well-preserved 1916 home (deemed eligible for Landmark status) to rubble, per the current zoning code. Like so many fellow neighbors, I hope this does not happen.

Here is a brief description of the home:

980 S. Los Robles Avenue is a historically significant Colonial Revival bungalow by architect Raymond M. Hobbs, built in 1916. Hobbs worked for Cyril Bennett's office during the pre-WWI years when the City of Pasadena was undergoing its main early development. Several houses similar to this design were built in 1914-15 by Bennett's office, most likely with Hobbs' drafting and design input. These include 1036 N. Chester Ave., 1029 N. Hill Ave., and 950 N. Los Robles Ave. (now altered). His design of the 'eyebrow' dormers and Tuscan columns were his signature look. Only a few of his houses remain.

The porte-cochère is another character-defining feature of this 4-bedroom, 2-bathroom home. The interior has its original hardwood floors throughout, solid mahogany doors, original curved windows and built-ins throughout. It was owned by the same family for the past 50 years.

I support City staff's identification of the need to strengthen our historic preservation ordinance. I appreciate that they are bringing the urgency of the situation to the attention of City Council on November 18th, and like many fellow residents, I applaud their intention to ensure there is no demolition of historically significant homes without full CEQA review, including an EIR. I hope this and other houses can be saved.

Thank you.

MyoungHee Christiansen
simplyhomestaging@gmail.com
825 S Los Robles Ave
Pasadena, California 91106

Jomsky, Mark

From: Jeffery Christiansen <info@sg.actionnetwork.org>
Sent: Monday, November 18, 2019 4:56 AM
To: Jomsky, Mark
Subject: 980 South Los Robles Demolition

CAUTION: This email was delivered from the Internet. Do not click links or open attachments unless you know the content is safe.

City Council,

Thank you for considering the issue of the planned demolition of 980 S. Los Robles Ave. I understand that the relevant loophole in our preservation ordinance is an ongoing concern for many residents, potentially impacting many historically significant properties around our City. However, I want to highlight this specific address because, according to the last Historic Preservation Commission hearing, it is urgent due to the pending expiration of the 180-day delay that was voted on in June. That leaves just 4-5 weeks for you to TAKE ACTION before the new owners have the right to demolish this well-preserved 1916 home (deemed eligible for Landmark status) to rubble, per the current zoning code. Like so many fellow neighbors, I hope this does not happen.

Here is a brief description of the home:

980 S. Los Robles Avenue is a historically significant Colonial Revival bungalow by architect Raymond M. Hobbs, built in 1916. Hobbs worked for Cyril Bennett's office during the pre-WWI years when the City of Pasadena was undergoing its main early development. Several houses similar to this design were built in 1914-15 by Bennett's office, most likely with Hobbs' drafting and design input. These include 1036 N. Chester Ave., 1029 N. Hill Ave., and 950 N. Los Robles Ave. (now altered). His design of the 'eyebrow' dormers and Tuscan columns were his signature look. Only a few of his houses remain.

The porte-cochère is another character-defining feature of this 4-bedroom, 2-bathroom home. The interior has its original hardwood floors throughout, solid mahogany doors, original curved windows and built-ins throughout. It was owned by the same family for the past 50 years.

I support City staff's identification of the need to strengthen our historic preservation ordinance. I appreciate that they are bringing the urgency of the situation to the attention of City Council on November 18th, and like many fellow residents, I applaud their intention to ensure there is no demolition of historically significant homes without full CEQA review, including an EIR. I hope this and other houses can be saved.

Thank you.

Jeffery Christiansen
realtorchristiansen@gmail.com
825 S Los Robles Ave
Pasadena, California 91106

Jomsky, Mark

From: Rita Roberts <info@sg.actionnetwork.org>
Sent: Sunday, November 17, 2019 9:33 PM
To: Jomsky, Mark
Subject: 980 South Los Robles Demolition

CAUTION: This email was delivered from the Internet. Do not click links or open attachments unless you know the content is safe.

City Council,

Thank you for considering the issue of the planned demolition of 980 S. Los Robles Ave. I understand that the relevant loophole in our preservation ordinance is an ongoing concern for many residents, potentially impacting many historically significant properties around our City. However, I want to highlight this specific address because, according to the last Historic Preservation Commission hearing, it is urgent due to the pending expiration of the 180-day delay that was voted on in June. That leaves just 4-5 weeks for you to TAKE ACTION before the new owners have the right to demolish this well-preserved 1916 home (deemed eligible for Landmark status) to rubble, per the current zoning code. Like so many fellow neighbors, I hope this does not happen.

Here is a brief description of the home:

980 S. Los Robles Avenue is a historically significant Colonial Revival bungalow by architect Raymond M. Hobbs, built in 1916. Hobbs worked for Cyril Bennett's office during the pre-WWI years when the City of Pasadena was undergoing its main early development. Several houses similar to this design were built in 1914-15 by Bennett's office, most likely with Hobbs' drafting and design input. These include 1036 N. Chester Ave., 1029 N. Hill Ave., and 950 N. Los Robles Ave. (now altered). His design of the 'eyebrow' dormers and Tuscan columns were his signature look. Only a few of his houses remain.

The porte-cochère is another character-defining feature of this 4-bedroom, 2-bathroom home. The interior has its original hardwood floors throughout, solid mahogany doors, original curved windows and built-ins throughout. It was owned by the same family for the past 50 years.

I support City staff's identification of the need to strengthen our historic preservation ordinance. I appreciate that they are bringing the urgency of the situation to the attention of City Council on November 18th, and like many fellow residents, I applaud their intention to ensure there is no demolition of historically significant homes without full CEQA review, including an EIR. I hope this and other houses can be saved.

Thank you.

Rita Roberts

rjroberts@sbcglobal.net

932 South Oakland Av

Pasadena , California 91106

Jomsky, Mark

From: Ken Johnson <info@sg.actionnetwork.org>
Sent: Sunday, November 17, 2019 8:06 PM
To: Jomsky, Mark
Subject: 980 South Los Robles Demolition

CAUTION: This email was delivered from the Internet. Do not click links or open attachments unless you know the content is safe.

City Council,

Thank you for considering the issue of the planned demolition of 980 S. Los Robles Ave. I understand that the relevant loophole in our preservation ordinance is an ongoing concern for many residents, potentially impacting many historically significant properties around our City. However, I want to highlight this specific address because, according to the last Historic Preservation Commission hearing, it is urgent due to the pending expiration of the 180-day delay that was voted on in June. That leaves just 4-5 weeks for you to TAKE ACTION before the new owners have the right to demolish this well-preserved 1916 home (deemed eligible for Landmark status) to rubble, per the current zoning code. Like so many fellow neighbors, I hope this does not happen.

Here is a brief description of the home:

980 S. Los Robles Avenue is a historically significant Colonial Revival bungalow by architect Raymond M. Hobbs, built in 1916. Hobbs worked for Cyril Bennett's office during the pre-WWI years when the City of Pasadena was undergoing its main early development. Several houses similar to this design were built in 1914-15 by Bennett's office, most likely with Hobbs' drafting and design input. These include 1036 N. Chester Ave., 1029 N. Hill Ave., and 950 N. Los Robles Ave. (now altered). His design of the 'eyebrow' dormers and Tuscan columns were his signature look. Only a few of his houses remain.

The porte-cochère is another character-defining feature of this 4-bedroom, 2-bathroom home. The interior has its original hardwood floors throughout, solid mahogany doors, original curved windows and built-ins throughout. It was owned by the same family for the past 50 years.

I support City staff's identification of the need to strengthen our historic preservation ordinance. I appreciate that they are bringing the urgency of the situation to the attention of City Council on November 18th, and like many fellow residents, I applaud their intention to ensure there is no demolition of historically significant homes without full CEQA review, including an EIR. I hope this and other houses can be saved.

Thank you.

Ken Johnson

krj14@earthlink.net

554 S Marengo Ave

Pasadena , California 91101

Jomsky, Mark

From: Pratima Solanki <info@sg.actionnetwork.org>
Sent: Sunday, November 17, 2019 7:30 PM
To: Jomsky, Mark
Subject: 980 South Los Robles Demolition

CAUTION: This email was delivered from the Internet. Do not click links or open attachments unless you know the content is safe.

City Council,

Thank you for considering the issue of the planned demolition of 980 S. Los Robles Ave. I understand that the relevant loophole in our preservation ordinance is an ongoing concern for many residents, potentially impacting many historically significant properties around our City. However, I want to highlight this specific address because, according to the last Historic Preservation Commission hearing, it is urgent due to the pending expiration of the 180-day delay that was voted on in June. That leaves just 4-5 weeks for you to TAKE ACTION before the new owners have the right to demolish this well-preserved 1916 home (deemed eligible for Landmark status) to rubble, per the current zoning code. Like so many fellow neighbors, I hope this does not happen.

Here is a brief description of the home:

980 S. Los Robles Avenue is a historically significant Colonial Revival bungalow by architect Raymond M. Hobbs, built in 1916. Hobbs worked for Cyril Bennett's office during the pre-WWI years when the City of Pasadena was undergoing its main early development. Several houses similar to this design were built in 1914-15 by Bennett's office, most likely with Hobbs' drafting and design input. These include 1036 N. Chester Ave., 1029 N. Hill Ave., and 950 N. Los Robles Ave. (now altered). His design of the 'eyebrow' dormers and Tuscan columns were his signature look. Only a few of his houses remain.

The porte-cochère is another character-defining feature of this 4-bedroom, 2-bathroom home. The interior has its original hardwood floors throughout, solid mahogany doors, original curved windows and built-ins throughout. It was owned by the same family for the past 50 years.

I support City staff's identification of the need to strengthen our historic preservation ordinance. I appreciate that they are bringing the urgency of the situation to the attention of City Council on November 18th, and like many fellow residents, I applaud their intention to ensure there is no demolition of historically significant homes without full CEQA review, including an EIR. I hope this and other houses can be saved.

Thank you.

Pratima Solanki

pratima.solanki@gmail.com

1220 South Los Robles

Pasadena, California 91106

Jomsky, Mark

From: Ann Malone <info@sg.actionnetwork.org>
Sent: Sunday, November 17, 2019 7:27 PM
To: Jomsky, Mark
Subject: 980 South Los Robles Demolition

CAUTION: This email was delivered from the Internet. Do not click links or open attachments unless you know the content is safe.

City Council,

Thank you for considering the issue of the planned demolition of 980 S. Los Robles Ave. I understand that the relevant loophole in our preservation ordinance is an ongoing concern for many residents, potentially impacting many historically significant properties around our City. However, I want to highlight this specific address because, according to the last Historic Preservation Commission hearing, it is urgent due to the pending expiration of the 180-day delay that was voted on in June. That leaves just 4-5 weeks for you to TAKE ACTION before the new owners have the right to demolish this well-preserved 1916 home (deemed eligible for Landmark status) to rubble, per the current zoning code. Like so many fellow neighbors, I hope this does not happen.

Here is a brief description of the home:

980 S. Los Robles Avenue is a historically significant Colonial Revival bungalow by architect Raymond M. Hobbs, built in 1916. Hobbs worked for Cyril Bennett's office during the pre-WWI years when the City of Pasadena was undergoing its main early development. Several houses similar to this design were built in 1914-15 by Bennett's office, most likely with Hobbs' drafting and design input. These include 1036 N. Chester Ave., 1029 N. Hill Ave., and 950 N. Los Robles Ave. (now altered). His design of the 'eyebrow' dormers and Tuscan columns were his signature look. Only a few of his houses remain.

The porte-cochère is another character-defining feature of this 4-bedroom, 2-bathroom home. The interior has its original hardwood floors throughout, solid mahogany doors, original curved windows and built-ins throughout. It was owned by the same family for the past 50 years.

I support City staff's identification of the need to strengthen our historic preservation ordinance. I appreciate that they are bringing the urgency of the situation to the attention of City Council on November 18th, and like many fellow residents, I applaud their intention to ensure there is no demolition of historically significant homes without full CEQA review, including an EIR. I hope this and other houses can be saved.

Thank you.

Ann Malone
malonehome7.vendors@gmail.com
695 S. Madison Ave
Pasadena, California 91106

Jomsky, Mark

From: Teri Shikasho <info@sg.actionnetwork.org>
Sent: Sunday, November 17, 2019 7:07 PM
To: Jomsky, Mark
Subject: 980 South Los Robles Demolition

CAUTION: This email was delivered from the Internet. Do not click links or open attachments unless you know the content is safe.

City Council,

Thank you for considering the issue of the planned demolition of 980 S. Los Robles Ave. I understand that the relevant loophole in our preservation ordinance is an ongoing concern for many residents, potentially impacting many historically significant properties around our City. However, I want to highlight this specific address because, according to the last Historic Preservation Commission hearing, it is urgent due to the pending expiration of the 180-day delay that was voted on in June. That leaves just 4-5 weeks for you to TAKE ACTION before the new owners have the right to demolish this well-preserved 1916 home (deemed eligible for Landmark status) to rubble, per the current zoning code. Like so many fellow neighbors, I hope this does not happen.

Here is a brief description of the home:

980 S. Los Robles Avenue is a historically significant Colonial Revival bungalow by architect Raymond M. Hobbs, built in 1916. Hobbs worked for Cyril Bennett's office during the pre-WWI years when the City of Pasadena was undergoing its main early development. Several houses similar to this design were built in 1914-15 by Bennett's office, most likely with Hobbs' drafting and design input. These include 1036 N. Chester Ave., 1029 N. Hill Ave., and 950 N. Los Robles Ave. (now altered). His design of the 'eyebrow' dormers and Tuscan columns were his signature look. Only a few of his houses remain.

The porte-cochère is another character-defining feature of this 4-bedroom, 2-bathroom home. The interior has its original hardwood floors throughout, solid mahogany doors, original curved windows and built-ins throughout. It was owned by the same family for the past 50 years.

I support City staff's identification of the need to strengthen our historic preservation ordinance. I appreciate that they are bringing the urgency of the situation to the attention of City Council on November 18th, and like many fellow residents, I applaud their intention to ensure there is no demolition of historically significant homes without full CEQA review, including an EIR. I hope this and other houses can be saved.

Thank you.

Teri Shikasho

teri.shikasho@gmail.com

729 magnolia ave

Pasadena, California 91106

Jomsky, Mark

From: Kimbetly Tanouye <info@sg.actionnetwork.org>
Sent: Sunday, November 17, 2019 6:53 PM
To: Jomsky, Mark
Subject: 980 South Los Robles Demolition

CAUTION: This email was delivered from the Internet. Do not click links or open attachments unless you know the content is safe.

City Council,

Thank you for considering the issue of the planned demolition of 980 S. Los Robles Ave. I understand that the relevant loophole in our preservation ordinance is an ongoing concern for many residents, potentially impacting many historically significant properties around our City. However, I want to highlight this specific address because, according to the last Historic Preservation Commission hearing, it is urgent due to the pending expiration of the 180-day delay that was voted on in June. That leaves just 4-5 weeks for you to TAKE ACTION before the new owners have the right to demolish this well-preserved 1916 home (deemed eligible for Landmark status) to rubble, per the current zoning code. Like so many fellow neighbors, I hope this does not happen.

Here is a brief description of the home:

980 S. Los Robles Avenue is a historically significant Colonial Revival bungalow by architect Raymond M. Hobbs, built in 1916. Hobbs worked for Cyril Bennett's office during the pre-WWI years when the City of Pasadena was undergoing its main early development. Several houses similar to this design were built in 1914-15 by Bennett's office, most likely with Hobbs' drafting and design input. These include 1036 N. Chester Ave., 1029 N. Hill Ave., and 950 N. Los Robles Ave. (now altered). His design of the 'eyebrow' dormers and Tuscan columns were his signature look. Only a few of his houses remain.

The porte-cochère is another character-defining feature of this 4-bedroom, 2-bathroom home. The interior has its original hardwood floors throughout, solid mahogany doors, original curved windows and built-ins throughout. It was owned by the same family for the past 50 years.

I support City staff's identification of the need to strengthen our historic preservation ordinance. I appreciate that they are bringing the urgency of the situation to the attention of City Council on November 18th, and like many fellow residents, I applaud their intention to ensure there is no demolition of historically significant homes without full CEQA review, including an EIR. I hope this and other houses can be saved.

Thank you.

Kimbetly Tanouye
tanouye@sbcglobal.net
1001 south Oakland
Pasadena, California 91106

Jomsky, Mark

From: Alexander Wei <info@sg.actionnetwork.org>
Sent: Sunday, November 17, 2019 5:53 PM
To: Jomsky, Mark
Subject: 980 South Los Robles Demolition

CAUTION: This email was delivered from the Internet. Do not click links or open attachments unless you know the content is safe.

City Council,

Thank you for considering the issue of the planned demolition of 980 S. Los Robles Ave. I understand that the relevant loophole in our preservation ordinance is an ongoing concern for many residents, potentially impacting many historically significant properties around our City. However, I want to highlight this specific address because, according to the last Historic Preservation Commission hearing, it is urgent due to the pending expiration of the 180-day delay that was voted on in June. That leaves just 4-5 weeks for you to TAKE ACTION before the new owners have the right to demolish this well-preserved 1916 home (deemed eligible for Landmark status) to rubble, per the current zoning code. Like so many fellow neighbors, I hope this does not happen.

Here is a brief description of the home:

980 S. Los Robles Avenue is a historically significant Colonial Revival bungalow by architect Raymond M. Hobbs, built in 1916. Hobbs worked for Cyril Bennett's office during the pre-WWI years when the City of Pasadena was undergoing its main early development. Several houses similar to this design were built in 1914-15 by Bennett's office, most likely with Hobbs' drafting and design input. These include 1036 N. Chester Ave., 1029 N. Hill Ave., and 950 N. Los Robles Ave. (now altered). His design of the 'eyebrow' dormers and Tuscan columns were his signature look. Only a few of his houses remain.

The porte-cochère is another character-defining feature of this 4-bedroom, 2-bathroom home. The interior has its original hardwood floors throughout, solid mahogany doors, original curved windows and built-ins throughout. It was owned by the same family for the past 50 years.

I support City staff's identification of the need to strengthen our historic preservation ordinance. I appreciate that they are bringing the urgency of the situation to the attention of City Council on November 18th, and like many fellow residents, I applaud their intention to ensure there is no demolition of historically significant homes without full CEQA review, including an EIR. I hope this and other houses can be saved.

Thank you.

Alexander Wei

alexwei@mac.com

Madison

Pasadena, California 91106

Jomsky, Mark

From: Lynn DeLacy <lynndelacy@yahoo.com>
Sent: Sunday, November 17, 2019 5:21 PM
To: Jomsky, Mark
Subject: temporary moratorium on demolition and alteration of historic properties

CAUTION: This email was delivered from the Internet. Do not click links or open attachments unless you know the content is safe.

To the Mayor and City Council Members:
c/o Mr. Mark Jomsky

As a resident of Pasadena I am writing in support of the proposed temporary moratorium on the demolition and alteration of historic properties so that the Planning staff can review current city ordinances and recommend changes. I urge you to vote for the proposed moratorium in order to develop better protections for our historic homes and neighborhoods.

Sincerely yours,
Lynn DeLacy

Jomsky, Mark

From: Mary Michelena-Monroe <info@sg.actionnetwork.org>
Sent: Sunday, November 17, 2019 4:36 PM
To: Jomsky, Mark
Subject: 980 South Los Robles Demolition

CAUTION: This email was delivered from the Internet. Do not click links or open attachments unless you know the content is safe.

City Council,

Thank you for considering the issue of the planned demolition of 980 S. Los Robles Ave. I understand that the relevant loophole in our preservation ordinance is an ongoing concern for many residents, potentially impacting many historically significant properties around our City. However, I want to highlight this specific address because, according to the last Historic Preservation Commission hearing, it is urgent due to the pending expiration of the 180-day delay that was voted on in June. That leaves just 4-5 weeks for you to TAKE ACTION before the new owners have the right to demolish this well-preserved 1916 home (deemed eligible for Landmark status) to rubble, per the current zoning code. Like so many fellow neighbors, I hope this does not happen.

Here is a brief description of the home:

980 S. Los Robles Avenue is a historically significant Colonial Revival bungalow by architect Raymond M. Hobbs, built in 1916. Hobbs worked for Cyril Bennett's office during the pre-WWI years when the City of Pasadena was undergoing its main early development. Several houses similar to this design were built in 1914-15 by Bennett's office, most likely with Hobbs' drafting and design input. These include 1036 N. Chester Ave., 1029 N. Hill Ave., and 950 N. Los Robles Ave. (now altered). His design of the 'eyebrow' dormers and Tuscan columns were his signature look. Only a few of his houses remain.

The porte-cochère is another character-defining feature of this 4-bedroom, 2-bathroom home. The interior has its original hardwood floors throughout, solid mahogany doors, original curved windows and built-ins throughout. It was owned by the same family for the past 50 years.

I support City staff's identification of the need to strengthen our historic preservation ordinance. I appreciate that they are bringing the urgency of the situation to the attention of City Council on November 18th, and like many fellow residents, I applaud their intention to ensure there is no demolition of historically significant homes without full CEQA review, including an EIR. I hope this and other houses can be saved.

Thank you.

Mary Michelena-Monroe

marym@earthlink.net

Magnolia

Pasadena, California 91106