Comments:

Hello, my name is Una Lee Jost and I am a resident of Council district 4.

My comments refer to agenda item 7 of the August 3rd Pasadena City Council meeting.

I call upon this Council to heed the demands of NAACP and NDLOM leaders for creation of a police oversight commission, hiring of an independent police auditor, and granting to both the commission and auditor unfettered subpoena powers:

(<https://www.pasadenanow.com/main/guest-opinion-allen-edson-naACP-and-pablo-alvarado-ndlon-a-message-to-the-political-class-the-time-is-now-for-meaningful-police-reform>)

As public servants sworn to protect and serve all residents, all police officers need to be accountable to the public.

Creating strong civilian oversight of the Police Department is a tangible step the City must take to re-imagine how police duties and public safety are performed in our community.

The community police oversight commission should be selected from the community and not be appointed by City staff or Council members. The auditor should have the authority to provide civilian oversight of the department including subpoena power, selecting the commission staff and reporting to the City Council.

I am calling on all City Council members to vote YES to amending the city charter to allow a full-time Independent Police Auditor position with subpoena power.

Thank you,

~ Una Lee Jost

I urge city council to adopt the amendments to the city charter to allow for the adoption of a civilian police oversight board.

The events of the past year, in fact, the past decade, have proven that policing as we think of it in the US is not a system of protecting and serving citizens, but protecting and serving the interests of private property and generating revenue for the city via needless citations and filling prisons with a constant supply of labor to keep them profitable.

I don't believe that a civilian oversight board will solve or prevent these problems, but will increase visibility to civilians of the irreconcilable contradictions between what we WANT police to do and what policing is DESIGNED to do, increasing popular consensus that we need to abolish carceral justice and rethink how we actually provide a sense of safety and security to our communities, as is currently being done in Seattle and Minneapolis.

The reimagining of justice and the abolition of police is inevitable as unrest and outrage at police brutality nationwide continues. Don't stand in the way of history.

Dear Mayor Terry Tornek and Pasadena City Councilmembers,

I support the proposal for a civilian police oversight committee as presented by the Public Safety Committee and under the leadership of Chairperson and Councilmember John J. Kennedy.

Everyone, citizens as well as members of the police department, are safer when everyone knows that there is independent oversight over the police department.

This proposal is a step in the right direction, and a platform on which we can continue to build.

I urge that each member of our esteemed Pasadena City Council rise to the moment and vote in favor of the proposal by the Public Safety Committee for a civilian police oversight committee.

Sincerely,

Caryn

The city council has a great opportunity to increase democracy and accountability in the city by supporting Vice-Mayor Hampton's proposal for a charter amendment to implement a police commission and independent auditor. To ensure public accountability and be in-line with other local police commissions our city needs to ensure that subpoena power is guaranteed. It should be entrusted to us as community members to decide this through an election. In addition the proposal should include a publicly elected commission.

In March of this year over 70% of L.A. County voters passed Measure R which added subpoena power to the L.A. Sheriff Civilian Oversight Commission. In 1990 the people of Long Beach, a council-manager city like Pasadena, voted to amend their city charter to ensure subpoena power and independence for their Citizen Police Complaint Commission.

The proposal by Mayor Tornek and Council member Kennedy falls short of meeting this basic standard of independence and investigatory power that has existed locally for 30yrs. Without independence, power, or a public vote, this body would serve the interests of the Pasadena Police Officers Association instead of the community. The council needs to listen to the growing demands in the name of supporting Black lives.

Honorable Council members!

I raise my voice tonight to amplify the words of Council member McAustin "The oversight board should be at least half women...I guarantee you, if we have half women we're going to see lots of different kinds of community policing coming into the fore." . Let me quote it again so you hear, "The oversight board should be at least half women..." The public reporting on last week's council meeting ignored this point.

The need for more women in city governance is about more diversity in such bodies. There is a body of literature on the organizational benefits of diverse representation in decision making bodies. Diversity needs to be broadly conceived to include socio-economic diversity.

So when looking for models of success in times of change, the key is diversity. Industry has noted that groups that represent the full range of social perspective will offer best solutions. Therefore, diversity in this oversight body is key to the success of the endeavor.

The oversight body MUST reflect the community and MUST comprise 50% women.

Hello, my name is Ella Moran and I am a teacher, parent, and resident of Council district 3.

You have the opportunity today to help center Pasadena at the forefront of the county and nation in taking steps to rectifying the crisis of police violence in our country. Creating civilian oversight of the Police Department with subpoena power is necessary to re-center public safety at the heart of police duties.

The community police oversight commission should be elected by the community, not appointed by City staff or Council members, have the authority to provide civilian oversight of the department (including subpoena power, selecting the commission staff and reporting to the City Council), and include a full-time auditor.

I call on all City Council members to vote yes amending the city charter to allow a full-time, elected, Independent Police Auditor position with subpoena power.

I would love to teach my students in the fall that Pasadena is actively working to dismantle systems of oppression, rather than that when given the chance it failed to do so.

Thank you.

Thank you for taking seriously the call for a police commission, which has overwhelming public support. As a resident of Northwest Pasadena, where incidents of police violence have taken place, I have heard many stories from my African American neighbors about their experiences with racial profiling by police. I agree with my courageous and conscientious Council member Tyron Hampton and have written several times in support of an independent police commission, as recommended by the Pasadena Community Bill of Rights. I have also expressed my agreement with US Civil Rights Commission that an effective independent police commission needs to have subpoena power. Therefore, I urge you to support a charter amendment that would allow the independent police auditor to have real independence and the power to issue subpoenas. I commend the Council for listening to the people, who have overwhelmingly called for a police commission with subpoena power. Since giving the auditor subpoena power requires a charter amendment, this decision needs to come before the voters. Let the people decide on this vitally important issue.

I Pastor here and have walked with several families directly impacted by police brutality, often due to weak accountability systems and failed protocol. I've personally officiated the funerals of too many who were never afforded due process. George Floyd's death (at the knee of police officers) has created an opportunity for our city to get it right. Furthermore, there is a reason why the names of Barnes, McDade, Thomas and others continue to be spoken in the current protests, because their deaths remind us that Pasadena has not succeeded in offering fair, accountable policing to residents of Color. Sadly, some council members seem to be uninterested in reform due to the financial support you received from the Police Officers Association for your campaigns. This is unacceptable and presents an obvious conflict of interests. I urge you Council, please fulfill your obligation to ALL our citizens. Adopt the community oversight & City prosecutor proposal. While at it, I'd love to hear each of you renounce any future acceptance of funds from the PPOA as a good faith measure. This will help restore the community's faith in you. I personally believe it's possible, but you must act now. Blessings.

My family and I live in Gordo's district. I am also a member of It's Us Now. We believe government budgets should match people's values, priorities and needs. We are living in a time of extreme duress. So many people are worried about their health care, children's education. They are worried if they will have a job or even a place to live. Black Lives Matter reminds us that – even under normal times – Black and Brown people often don't feel safe from the police. Tensions are high. People have reason to protest. Governments have let us down. You've sent the police to do your job – the job of community builders, people we elected to take on people's very real needs. We don't want police to show up when someone else – a fellow community member, counselor, health professional or educator – is what's needed. Step one Hire a full-time auditor with subpoena power to ensure an accurate inventory of donated military gear as well as training and a justified use. Step two: prioritize you budget to address people's real needs. The police don't decide city budgets. You do. Do your job. Don't hand it over to the police.

Greetings from the road. I'm driving east on route 66 to visit family in Wisconsin. I slept last night in Tulsa, Oklahoma before getting up and driving to the Greenwood Neighborhood District.

It was in this neighborhood where 300 African Americans were brutally massacred in 1921 by white racist residents who turned the neighborhood into a firestorm before razing it to the ground.

While standing at the Corner of Greenwood Ave and Archer St., I talked with several Tulsa residents who told me of Tulsa's ugly racist history. They talked directly in commentaries and observations about systemic racism that thrives covertly and not so covertly in communities and police departments throughout the US.

I told them about Pasadena where today our Mayor and City Council are discussing a motion to put a charter amendment on this November's ballot that would create a citizens police commission who will be supported by an independent police auditor (IPA) reporting to the City Council. They wished me/us good luck.

Pasadena doesn't need good luck. Pasadena needs the Mayor and Council to lead from the front on the issue of police reform. Cause good trouble and put the IPA on the ballot.
