Dear Pasadena City Clerk,

Since late January, my colleagues and I at Polytechnic School have relied heavily upon the thoughtful, measured, and scientifically based guidance of Dr. Goh and the Pasadena Health Department. Her commitment to the community's health and safety has been unwavering, as has her keen interest in getting students back to school. She has responded to our questions candidly and carefully — always making sure that we understand the complexities and the competing priorities at work. Dr. Goh has helped us navigate the pandemic's changing landscape with deep empathy for our students and their families and the consequential decisions that challenge all of us as school leaders.

In conversations with heads of school from around the country, I consider myself and our community fortunate to have her steady hand and expertise guiding our reopening plans.

Sincerely,

John W. Bracker
Head of School

Honorable Mayor Terry Tornek
Members of the City Council
City of Pasadena

Pasadena, CA 91109

Re: COVID-19 and School Openings

On October 15th, the mayors of California's 13 largest cities signed a letter to Governor Gavin Newsom urging the state to consider reopening schools because they are "extremely concerned about the effects of prolonged distance learning and lack of access to in-person classroom resources on our children." The letter goes on to request "our state leaders to continue to be proactive, collaborative, and creative in finding pathways to providing critical education and services to our children in a manner that does not negatively impact the health of our students, teachers, staff and families."

Parents in Pasadena are urging our own Mayor Tornek and Public Health Director Dr. Goh to join these big city mayors in voicing the need to get kids back to school so they can get the in-person education and socialization they need to lessen the negative impact of these past seven months of lockdowns. Pediatricians and public health officials have said again and again that these lockdowns are a "grave injustice" and that keeping our schools closed will cause "irreparable damage" to our children. And now we are starting to see studies showing that schools are not in fact super-spreader facilities and that fears of infection spikes are being overblown.

Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health associate professor Joseph Allen states that the risk of COVID can be managed, but that "very few are talking about the risks of kids being out of school." Sadly, it has become apparent that our children's mental health is not being prioritized by city leaders. It is blatantly obvious that our kids' mental, academic, and physical health are deteriorating. Seeing kids of all ages struggle with the effects of social isolation requires that this council get involved and stand up for our children like the other big city mayors have already done. As parents, we can no longer stand idle to an issue that is severely impacting our kids and families. We Believe it is the moral obligation of school heads and local elected officials to protect our children's physical and mental health at this time. Our local petition has received 236 signatures to date, and more are being collected on a daily basis.

Pasadena has always been a stand-out city and now it is time to stand up for our kids. We cannot wait any longer to express our serious concern. We hope you will support sending a letter to Gavin Newsom stating that our kids cannot be on lockdown any longer. They are counting on you.

We appreciate the consideration,

I have a daughter who runs both high school cross country and track and field. She did not have a track season last year due to COVID. CIF postponed her fall cross country season to January 2021 and are hoping to have a track season beginning in March. My daughter, a Pasadena resident is a top competitor in the country and a State Champion. Running is what keeps her motivated and healthy in life. We have to do more and make sure that high school kids can continue to practice and continue to compete for their well-being. Sports is one way to keep kids doing something productive and positive during their crucial teen years. I know of many athletes who have sadly quit because there is so much unknown this year in high school sports. Our leaders have to think outside of the box for the sake of our children. I believe with the right rules in place, high school sports is definitely possible and urgently needed for the self-esteem and wellness of our children.
Healthy body - healthy mind.

Here is an article out today- one of many that I have seen over the past few months. I implore you to read this very well. There is no evidence to support keeping the schools closed, and a multitude of evidence to support opening them. If we are following the science, all elementary schools should open immediately.

Dear Pasadena City Council Members,

Today, I once again implore you to open our schools. I sent a letter last month, but I believe it fell on deaf ears. We appreciate you opening up the school waiver process; however, it appears that only a few elite schools have been given the green light while those non-elites were denied. I have written to Dr. Goh several times over this past month begging her to work with all schools applying to find creative solutions that will allow them to open, but I do not believe this is happening. Applications are about a month old and still no solutions have been found. Is it not the job of the school waiver committee to help find solutions? Are we asking the schools to do this all on their own? Please don't let this just be lip service- please actually help schools to open and not hinder them opening.

The requirements for our waivers are much greater than what the CDC and the State of CA requires. Our children are suffering greatly, while students in the rest of the country and much of our state are thriving at in-school environments. Opioid overdoses are up 50%. Suicides are up 70%. At what time does the Public Health Officer consider mental health important? We are creating huge social/academic inequities and mental health issues. The Covid19 risk pales in comparison to the mental health risk for our children. Study after study proves that schools are not super-spreaders and Covid19 is not a huge risk for them.

Item 2

The Covid19 numbers are still very low in Pasadena, as they have been for a very long time. As you may read, notable increases this past week are attributed to testing backlog and are not true increases. In all of LA County, there have only been 21 students diagnosed with Covid, and usually it's only 1 at the school (indicating transmission is not occurring at the schools but are occurring at home).

My son has been in preschool since August, and there has not been any issues- those children are thriving, as all children should be in school. My normally high-achieving daughter is doing virtual learning. She is in day 123 of online school and is struggling to stay engaged in her computer 3-4 hours each day. Her behavior has taken a deep decline, and she is acting out every day. She misses her peers and her teachers, and her love of learning is non-existent. This once vivacious little book worm is not bored and disengaged. We may never get her back on track. Is this the future you want for our children? How can they do great things when we are failing them like this?

I am begging you to speak with mental health experts to see how Covid is impacting our community. Please let them have an equal say in the Covid conversation, as the mental health battle is something we have complete control over for our children. If we open our schools, we can solve this issue quickly and easily with very little risk.

Please, I beg you yet again, open more schools. Work with them to find creative solutions. End this mental health pandemic.

Sincerely,
Marisa Zakaria

I am a parent of three teen age boys and live at [redacted] in Pasadena. The kids can not learn properly online and their mental health is at stake. It has been too long. It is time to open up the schools!!! Other states are back in school and the kids are fine. The teachers union is holding us all hostage.

Open the schools!!

madeline talt	Los Angeles, CA	2020-10-23	"I am signing because I support opening the discussion and moving the conversation forward in reopening schools. If schools have thorough plans to safely reopen, I support reopening. We are a state that consistently has pointed to data to make decisions on our next steps and data proves that COVID does not a pose a substantial risk to children. However, I support thorough plans created by schools to mitigate risks COVID poses to school faculty and staff and family members. If schools can open safely in a way that protects all, it is a disservice to our children to not reopen."

My daughter came crying to me the other day asking why she can't go to school. She said, "America is supposed to be a free country." Stop taking away our rights and freedom of choices, it is totalitarian and morally wrong. Open the schools. Let the parents decide what is best for their families, the government was never supposed to make those decisions for us."

Kelley Forgatch	Pasadena, CA	2020-10-23	"Opening Pasadena schools is critical to our children's growth, education, social skills and most importantly, their mental health. Please consider the repercussions to our children of keeping the schools closed and how it far outweighs any benefit set forth by the Public Health Officials. Sitting in front of screens all day is unhealthy and causes these students anxiety and mental breakdowns. Please take this seriously. This is what a public health crisis looks like. Do your job, help these children and open the schools. Thank you for reading."

Mary Forrest	Pasadena, CA	2020-10-23	"Young children especially those in the grades TK-2 are too young to be learning remotely via an ipad or different devices. There are multiple studies, that were done prior to COVID, that show the damage that long periods of screen time does to a developing brain of a child (premature thinning of the cortex). Children of these ages should be learning safely at school, learning to become independent (instead of mom helping them do school), learning through play - as it is such an important developmental needs for them - and they are being deprived of this basic need. Children are falling behind as they are unable to stare at the screen for hours. They are not transferring what they are learning via ipad into the real world. Many of the side effects of learning on a device from home are causing sleep problems, language and emotional delays, mood problems, anxiety, isolation depression and fear. Seven months of lockdowns have created an irreversible loss for children's education. Submitted by Mary Forrest on behalf"
Ken Perry	Pasadena, CA	2020-10-23	"It's way past time to open our schools. Pasadena students and parents are suffering."
John King	Pasadena, CA	2020-10-23	"Children can no longer suffer the grueling hours of online education, simply being used as pawns for political biases. They need a "real" education."
Christina Brandt	US	2020-10-23	"If schools have a plan to safely reopen they should be able to do so. Keeping them closed is putting undue stress on kids and limiting their educational and personal growth and development."
Kate Sachs	Altadena, CA	2020-10-23	"I'm signing this petition because our children need to be back in the classroom in front of their teachers with their peers beside them. Having young children in front of technology distance learning is not an acceptable way for children to be educated. Priority should go to the children, not tattoo parlors, bars and gambling facilities."

How can you make decisions that affect all people from Pasadena when it is obvious that she is using her professional position to influence whether the school where her children attends will stay closed!She will keep all Pasadena schools closed to support her PERSONAL agenda for Poly!
