As a resident of East Pasadena, I am happy to see the city funding sidewalk repairs. Residents of single family neighborhoods across the city want better sidewalks in their neighborhoods for safety and to encourage walking.

Here are other items single family neighborhood residents keep asking for:

- * More funding for streetlights. Many neighborhood streets across the city are dark at night with no street lights. We need to make this a priority for single family neighborhoods. Our safety and security depend on it.
- * Common sense traffic control measures like installing traffic signals at dangerous intersections. Even though there will be a lit crosswalk at Sunnyslope and Orange Grove, residents in Daisy Villa have been asking for a regular traffic signal at this intersection for years. It would increase safety and improve traffic flow on East Orange Grove.
- * More money for street repairs. Our neighborhood streets need to be resurfaced on a more regular basis. With the billions of dollars coming on "infrastructure" can't we find more funding for street resurfacing and repair? East Mountain street is an example of a street in bad need of resurfacing. Why can't we find more money to fix our streets?

Making these items a priority would help residents in single family neighborhoods across the city. Please keep these single family neighborhood residents' concerns top of mind.

Good Morning,

As a resident of East Pasadena, I am happy to see the city funding sidewalk repairs. Residents in East Pasadena want better sidewalks in their neighborhoods both for safety and for encouraging walking.

Residents keep asking for:

- * More funding for street lights. Many neighborhood streets do not have street lights and are dark at night. We need to make this a priority; our safety and security depend on it.
- * Common sense traffic control measures such as installing traffic signals at dangerous intersections. Even though there will be a lit crosswalk at Sunnyslope and Orange Grove Blvd., residents in Daisy Villa have been asking for a regular traffic signal at this intersection for years. It would increase safety and improve traffic flow on East Orange Grove Blvd.
- * More money for street repairs. Our neighborhood streets need to be resurfaced on a more regular basis. With the billions of dollars coming in for "infrastructure," isn't it possible to find more funding for street resurfacing and repair? East Mountain Street is an example of a street that needs resurfacing. Why can't we allocate more money to fix our streets?

Making these items a priority would improve the safety and quality of life of residents in East Pasadena. Please keep these our concerns in mind in making decisions about allocations for improving the streets in the City.
