Fine-Tuning Homelessness Plan Targets

Department of Housing

With two years of data, we plan to revise our yearly prevention and housing targets to ensure we stay on track to achieve a 50% reduction in homelessness.

Insight 1

Despite housing nearly twice as many people as anticipated, our decrease was only 9% instead of the projected 13%, indicating the need for more ambitious housing goals.

Insight 2

Moreover, higher-than-anticipated inflows underscore the urgency to ramp up prevention efforts.

Year One Successes

Department of Housing

In year one...

Nearly double the anticipated number of people were permanently housed

We achieved a 9% reduction in the number of people experiencing homelessness annually.

These results show that concerted efforts can move the needle in meaningful ways.
